ABSTRACT

This bibliography comprises selected books and articles from "The Library of Congress Catalogue; A Cumulative List of Works" for the years 1950 to March 1973, and unprinted cards for the preceding years. The purpose of the selection is to show the numerous possibilities for locating research materials on the roles and accomplishments of women and the attitudes toward them. The entries are listed alphabetically by author. In addition, other sources of articles about women are mentioned, and a list of publishers specializing in books related to studies of women are given. (BB)

Introduction

This bibliography comprises selected books and articles from The Library of Congress Catalogue: A Cumulative List of Works for the years 1950 to March 1973, and unprinted cards for the preceding years. References from the following headings and subheadings are included.

Subject heading: "Woman." Subheadings: Addresses, Essays, Lectures; Anecdotes, Facetiae, Satire, etc.; Anatomy and Physiology; Bibliography; Biography; Charities; Clubs; Collections; Congresses; Diseases; Dress; Education; Emancipation; Employment; Health & Hygiene; History and Condition of Women; Hospitals; Legal Status; Laws; Occupations; Physical Education; Portraits; Quotations; Maxims; Religious Life; Rights of Women; Social and Moral Questions; Societies; Sports; Statistics; Suffrage.

Subject heading: "Women." Subheadings: Portraits; Delinquent; Negro; by State & Nationality; and Peace; Periodicals; and Religion; and Socialism; as Actors; Air Pilots; Artists; Authors; Criminals; Farmers; Journalists; Lawyers; Ministers; Missionaries; Orators; Physicians; Poets; Police Officers; Soldiers; in Motion Pictures; in Science; as Teachers.

Not all titles from these headings are included. The purpose of the selection is to show the numerous possibilities for locating research materials on the roles and accomplishments of women and the attitudes toward them. The list is augmented with titles suggested by Natalie Davis, Carolyn Iltis, Margaret Rossiter, Ruth Lewin Sime, Michael Sokal, and Doris Thibodeau.

The study of women from any scientific point of view requires exploration of a variety of sources. The following list, while not exhaustive, covers many of the reference works which will aid in locating source materials on women, in addition to the titles cited in this bibliography.

A rich source of printed materials, including books, articles, patents, lectures, etc., on the categorization, diagnosis, and treatment of diseases of women and on their contributions to medicine and the biological sciences is the Index Catalogue of the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office (Surgeon General's Catalogue) under the subject headings "Woman's" and "Women" in the editions of 1895 (first series, v. 16, pp. 543-582); 1916 (second series, v. 21, pp. 193-226);

1932 (third series, v. 10, pp. 1271-1279); and 1961 (fifth series, v. 3, pp. 1724-1725). The Surgeon General's Catalogue is followed by the Armed Forces Medical Library Catalogue (1950-1954) and, finally, was succeeded by the National Library of Medicine Catalog (1955-1964) and then the National Library of Medicine Current Catalog (1965-present).

Journal articles may be retrieved from the annual reference issued by the National Library of Medicine and the American Medical Association: the Index Medicus (1879-1926), the Quarterly Cumulative Index Medicus, QCIM (1927-1956), the Current List of Medical Literature (1941-1959), and the Index Medicus (1960-present), which is published monthly and also as an annual cumulative volume.

The decreasing number of references under "Woman's" and "Women" in the successive series of the Surgeon General's Catalogue reflects the increasing tendency to classify matters pertaining to women under categories bearing the names of various diseases, anatomical structures, individuals of distinction, etc. The subject "Men" is joined with "Men of letters" and directs the reader to: see Literary Men.

The Coordinating Committee on Women in the Historical Profession (CCWHP) distributes Bulletins in the form of newsletters (Bulletin 1, 1970; 2 and 3, 1971; 4 and 5, 1972; and 6, 1974), which contain brief descriptions of current research on the history of women from all viewpoints. Copies are available from Dr. Karen Offen, 450 Raymundo Road, Woodside, California 94062. The general Newsletter of the CCWHP also lists a page or two of the latest publications in the field.

Dr. Natalie Z. Davis of the University of California, Berkeley, has prepared an extensive, well-organized, typed bibliography of 59 pages for her course "Society and the Sexes in Early Modern Europe; Fifteenth through Eighteenth Centuries" (History 104).

Women — Biographies of Notable Women Throughout History (Catalogue 613, 1973) was issued by Argosy Book Stores, Inc., 116 East 59th Street, New York, New York 10022.

"Archival and Manuscript Resources for the Study of Women's History: A Beginning," compiled by Andrea Hinding and Rosemary Richardson, is available from the Social Welfare History Archives Center, University of Minnesota Libraries, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Several periodical issues have been devoted, in whole or in part, to women. The Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association (Vol.

NS13, November 1973) covers women pharmacists. A major part of the July 1973 issue of Esquire (Vol. 80) is composed of a series of articles on "The American Woman." "West Coast Archival Manuscript Resources for the Study of Women's History," by Joan Roff Wilson, appears in the May 1974 issue of Women's Studies: An Interdisciplinary Journal. Further references appear in The Feminist, a journal which began publication in 1971.

Four presses specializing in books related to studies of women are:

SCIENCE, MEDICINE AND SOCIETY IN THE RENAISSANCE

Essays to Honor Walter Pagel edited by Allen G. Debus

"The authority, power, and subtle influence of Pagel's work are well reflected in the essays in this festschrift. The . . . contributors range from the regius professor of modern history at Oxford to the editor of the Bulletin of the New York Academy of Medicine (and represent the United States, England, Germany, Italy, Poland, Denmark, and Austria). Their essays discuss topics as varied as medieval optics, Renaissance anatomy, and 'Newton and the Hermetic tradition.' A sympathetic introduction by the editor, a bibliography of Pagel's writings, and a plethora of illustrations complete this handsome and well-produced work. . . . Any full evaluation of the riches present in these two volumes will obviously require the combined attention of many specialist scholars. But the general reader who wants to know why the origins of modern science aren't what they used to be could well begin by browsing through these essays."

— Arnold Thackray, Science

". . . a remarkable tribute to a remarkable man. . . . The . . . essays in honour of Walter Pagel in these two volumes have been arranged . . . to coincide with his main interests. They are of high quality and full of valuable material and ideas. . . . Patient and detailed historical study, such as that to which Walter Pagel has devoted his life, and which is exemplified in the remarkable collection of essays published in his honour, will continue, and as time goes by and knowledge increases, what one writer in these volumes calls 'the old opposition between "internalist" and "externalist" approaches to the history of science' will surely be seen as an artificial problem."

— Frances A. Yates, History of Science

". . . avoidably, some papers are less good than others. Nevertheless, the work is indispensable for all serious students of Renaissance medicine and science, as well as of intellectual history."

— Lester S. King, JAMA

". . . beautifully produced and . . . illustrated . . . . This collective work of scholarship will undoubtedly find a place in most public and private libraries of medical history. It is a worthy tribute to a great man."

— H. I. Winner, The Times Educational Supplement
